

Our Vision for Technology

Technology is a driving force in the world today. It also introduces some remarkable opportunities in education institutions to expand what's possible for teaching and learning. For that purpose, we're implementing the One-to-Own Program, which offers students the ability to use Apple products for personal learning.

Why Apple Technology

Apple has always designed products that make learning personal and empower the creative genius in all of us. We've chosen the Apple platform and Apple products because they align with our mission and goals to make learning relevant, inspire creativity, enhance collaboration, and enable all students to be creators who believe their work matters.

Students love learning when they can see their imaginations come to life. More than just a word processor or a textbook, iPad can be an instrument, a drawing canvas, a portable library, and so much more. And iPad now supports Apple Pencil, (available for additional cost), opening up a new way for students to take notes, sketch thoughts, and capture scenes. Its thin and light design includes a stunning 9.7-inch Retina display, advanced FaceTime HD front camera, 8-megapixel back camera, the powerful A10 chip, and an incredible battery life of up to 10 hours. Every iPad comes with a suite of built-in apps that enable students to discover new skills and communicate their best learning.
